

model release form

Thank you for taking the time to interact with us today, with what should be a fun and stress free experience. We believe it's important to record local events and opportunities for our clients, as and when they arise through the use of photography and text, in this way we can share stories, experiences and achievement with a wider audience - perhaps through the press, television, radio or on the world wide web.

Recent legislation requires us to obtain your explicit written consent to use the photographs and images in this way.

So, please complete our request for information below, then duly sign and return the sheet to today's photographer or p.r.o.
